Refer to the state beef council list for your specific state contact.

The National Cattlemen's Beef Association and state beef councils will provide the following:

- A variety of topic selections for your annual meeting.
- A qualified, notable speaker who is an expert in the topic you select.
- Speaker travel expenses (including airfare and lodging) and honorarium.
- Presentation materials, which may include slides, overheads and/or handouts. This will vary based on the speaker.
- Free client education kits and resource materials to everyone who attends the session.

In return, we ask the state dietetic association to:

- Arrange for a general or non-concurrent session during which the speaker will present. (The session can be concurrent if there is a guarantee of 200 in attendance.)
- Allow 10 to 15 minutes at the end of the session to discuss the nutrition education resources available free to your members.
- Provide a copy of the draft program approximately three months prior to the event and a final program three to four weeks prior to the meeting.
- Forward session evaluations to Shelley Johnson at the address above.

To arrange for a sponsored speaker:

- Select the top three topics that meet the goals of your program theme.
- Schedule the date and time for the seminar – make sure you have the date and time ready when contacting the beef industry representative.
- Contact your state beef council or Shelley Johnson. Refer to the the list of state beef council contacts.

We look forward to working with you!
